Financing your Education:

The scholarship/awards listed above may be renewed each academic year for a maximum of four years (8 semesters) of undergraduate study. Gift aid is only one element of a complete financial aid package. If you haven't already done so, we encourage you to complete a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and list Duquesne University as a recipient. The Duquesne University code is 003258. This will enable our Office of Financial Aid to determine any need-based grants, loans, or student employment for which you may be eligible.

Commit to DU!

Please log into and access your applicant portal (duq.edu/applicant-portal) for important information you need to enroll. We ask you to reserve your spot early. Complete your Enrollment Response Form and submit the $500 non-refundable tuition deposit within two weeks of this letter. We can then guarantee your spot in the class. Seating capacity is capped to preserve the quality of your learning experience and every year we have more applications than seats available.

You may also elect to wait until the final National College Decision Day deadline date of May 1. Delaying your tuition deposit until then will in no way jeopardize your eligibility for admission, on-campus housing or financial aid.

Your confidential Duquesne University Institutional ID ("DU ID") is D01899103.

Over the next months, you will be asked to provide this number to various student support departments at the University. These services can include Admissions, Financial Aid, Residence Life, Health Services, Computing Technology Services, etc. Please keep this letter on file, or record your Duquesne University Institutional ID number in a safe location, for future reference.

Your MultiPass is used now through graduation:

MultiPass is a secure username and password combination that provides access to the Duquesne portal and other digital resources. As an accepted student, you're able to check the status of your financial aid package through the Duquesne portal. As a student, the Duquesne portal is where you'll eventually be able to check your email, order books, pay bills, and view your grades and schedule. To set up your account, please visit duq.edu/multipass and select 'Set Up MultiPass.' You will need to enter the Duquesne ID listed above to complete your MultiPass registration.

Terms and Conditions:

Please note this offer of admission is conditional and contingent upon your successful completion of admissions requirements, all work in progress and high school graduation. The official admissions requirements are published annually in the Duquesne University Catalog at duq.edu/catalog. Self-reported information must be verified before enrollment. duq.edu/admission-terms. Dear Dong en,

Congratulations!! Welcome to Duquesne University's Pre-Medical and Health Professions Post-Secondary Certificate Program (UG-PMHPP). You have been selected from a very competitive group of students to join our program. We look forward to assisting you in your development, growth, and preparation to become the most competitive applicant possible when you are ready to apply to medical, dental, or other health professional school. For nearly a decade, our students' successes in gaining admission to professional school have been exceptional: 2x the national acceptance rate for medical school, veterinary medical school, physician assistant; and rates consistently higher than the national averages for dental school, optometry school, podiatry school and physical therapy.

Through the UG-PMHPP, you will receive educational opportunities, individualized guidance, and personalized assistance that are uniquely Duquesne. You will meet regularly with us to help you prepare for any one of fourteen different medical and health professions: medicine (MD and DO), dental medicine, veterinary medicine, podiatry, optometry, chiropractic medicine, physician assistant, physical therapy, public health, genetic counseling, naturopathic medicine, pathology assistant, and dietician/nutritionist. We will help you before, during and after you apply to medical or professional school and continue that support for up to three years beyond the time you graduate from Duquesne. You also will get a jump on learning about medicine through formalized instruction and experiences with basic anatomy, pathophysiology, and associated clinical skills for four systems of the body, important health and safety training, expectations of a career in health care, and medical terminology.

To learn more about our program, please visit duq.edu/pmhpp. Once you have reviewed the information available there, if you still have questions, please call 412.396.6335 or email pmhpp@duq.edu.

We hope to see you at Duquesne and in one of our PMHPP courses this fall. We look forward to working closely with you to help you prepare for your future career in medicine and health care.

Sincerely,

Amy R. Whittington, M. S.
Director - Pre-Medical & Health Professions Programs
